

I remember this one.

SEASON'S CHANGING IN THE PIANO STUDIO
BY DONIELL C CUSHMAN

He plays the piano lesson with an oversized hoodie on he's tired
his throat is sore
C chords in inversions, up and down he asks if the second chords are in F or G chords up and down
root position
then parallel thirds in octaves
runs a hand through his thick chestnut hair
"Oh yeah," he says "I remember this one."
Oh, okay. He takes correction well.
this?
yes.
season's changing in the piano studio
before chromatic scales
C-B-B flat, try that again
adding in left hand separately
yawns

DONIELL C CUSHMAN

I am a piano teacher, composer, and arranger, from Spokane in Washington State.
I have a BA in Humanities and I am studying for a Master's Degree in Education with Western Governors University.